NOVEMBER SPOTLIGHT

WIE's First Ever Alumni Brunch!

On November 28th, McMaster Women in Engineering held its first-ever Alumni Brunch, bringing together current students and alumni for a morning filled with great conversation, delicious food, and meaningful networking. A highlight of the event was an inspiring keynote speech by Jessica Radko, a McMaster Engineering alumn and former WIE President, who shared her journey and insights into forging a successful career in engineering.

This memorable event strengthened connections across generations of women in engineering, showcasing the power of community and mentorship. We can't wait to continue building these bridges in the future—stay tuned for more opportunities to connect and grow!
